Hint and Tip Number 28: The Advantages Of Landscape Lighting

June 4th, 2018

Plants often take center stage when it comes to landscaping, but exterior lighting adds both aesthetic and functional benefits to your home.

Appearance:

The obvious advantage to landscape lighting is the enhancement to your home's appearance. The lights make your home and landscaping visible even after dark.

Functionality

Landscape lighting increases the functionality of your outdoor spaces. With proper lighting, you can use your front and backyard long after the sun goes down. You can decide on whether you would like flood lights in your front and back yard to brighten a patio or portion of the yard, or install lighting along walkways and deck posts for safety and late night dining.

Home Security

Lights illuminating your home's exterior makes the house less of a target for crimes like vandalism or burglary. A criminal cannot approach your home as easily and has fewer hiding spots in the landscaping with a well-lit exterior.

Illuminating entrance points, like doors and windows, with lights makes it difficult for a potential burglar to break in unnoticed.
